

MAINE MAPLE SUNDAY

And other Maple Days

March 22, 2009

Join Maine's maple producers each spring as they celebrate Maine Maple Sunday. It's the day when sugar makers around the State open the doors of their sugarhouses for the public to join them in their rites of spring – making maple syrup.

Most sugarhouses offer free tasting and live demonstrations of how syrup is produced, from tap to table. Many offer a variety of other treats and activities, including syrup on pancakes or ice cream, sugarbush tours, sleigh or wagon rides, live music and lots more.

The Maine Maple Sunday event, always the fourth Sunday in March, is often expanded to additional days, or held earlier or later at some sugarhouses. Be sure to read the description after each listing and call ahead. Many sugarhouses are open all season and will arrange special tours and demonstrations for groups on other days as well. Call them to make arrangements.

Listings are grouped by county where they are located.

MAINE MAPLE SUNDAY

And other Maple Days

March 22, 2009

Join Maine's maple producers each spring as they celebrate Maine Maple Sunday. It's the day when sugar makers around the State open the doors of their sugarhouses for the public to join them in their rites of spring – making maple syrup.

Most sugarhouses offer free tasting and live demonstrations of how syrup is produced, from tap to table. Many offer a variety of other treats and activities, including syrup on pancakes or ice cream, sugarbush tours, sleigh or wagon rides, live music and lots more.

The Maine Maple Sunday event, always the fourth Sunday in March, is often expanded to additional days, or held earlier or later at some sugarhouses. Be sure to read the description after each listing and call ahead. Many sugarhouses are open all season and will arrange special tours and demonstrations for groups on other days as well. Call them to make arrangements.

Listings are grouped by county where they are located.
